MAJESTIC FIGURE OF LIBERTY FEATURED ON BUREAU OF ENGRAVING AND PRINTING CARD
AT LONG BEACH COIN & COLLECTIBLES EXPO

The Bureau of Engraving and Printing will exhibit at the Long Beach Coin and Collectibles Expo February 20-23, 1997, at the Long Beach Convention Center, 100 South Pine Avenue, Long Beach, California.

THE LONG BEACH SOUVENIR CARD

"The American Allegory" (a story with a second meaning) is the Bureau's theme for activities in 1997. The theme will be carried out in the Bureau's offerings, including souvenir cards, notes, and stamps.

The forceful figure of Liberty guarding the American flag is featured on the souvenir card which will be introduced by the Bureau of Engraving and Printing at the Long Beach Coin & Collectibles Expo in Long Beach, California. The engraving features a graceful woman standing in front of an American flag. She wears a Phrygian cap, originating in the Middle East in ancient times, which became a symbol of liberty during the French Revolution. The symbol was adopted by American artists during the 19th century and was featured on many illustrations. The figure is holding a fasces, a bundle of wooden rods bound together. The fasces was a mark of authority in ancient Rome and came to be regarded in the United States as a symbol of unity. The illustration also includes an anchor, often the symbol of hope.

The portrait was used for a number of securities, including a lock-seal (miscellaneous die #1528). Lock-seals were pieces of paper inserted by the Internal Revenue Service in locks guarding the integrity of distilled alcohol in warehouses. If the seals were pierced by a key, the broken paper showed that somebody had tampered with the lock. Lock-seals were used for nearly a century until 1972. Collectors often considered them to be "revenue stamps."

The dramatic engraving was completed by Charles Kennedy Burt (miscellaneous die #3254) in 1872. It contains a variety of emblems which are allegories for such qualities as liberty, union, justice, and hope, all important concepts in the formation of the American nation. Charles Kennedy Burt was a prominent Scottish-born engraver who migrated to New York in 1842. He spent several years engraving Da Vinci's "Last Supper." He was privately employed, but did much of his work in later years for the Bureau. He also painted in oils and water colors, and died in New York in 1892.

EXHIBITS

Also available at the show will be uncut currency, including the 1995 series $2 notes. The Bureau will feature a billion dollars of unique currency, treasury bonds and gold and silver certificates along with an exhibit of imperforate sheets of historic stamps. A technical expert will be available.

PURCHASING INSTRUCTIONS

A mail order form for the Long Beach Souvenir Card is included. The cards, #97012 mint and #97013 post office canceled, are included in the standard subscription orders. You may order either mint or canceled cards two weeks before the first day of sale. FIERCE BATTLE OF LEXINGTON DEPICTED
ON CARD AT BAY STATE COIN SHOW
BY BUREAU OF ENGRAVING AND PRINTING

The Bureau of Engraving and Printing will exhibit at the 33rd Semi-Annual Bay State Coin Show, April 18-20, 1997, at the "57" Park Plaza, (Radisson Hotel) in Boston Massachusetts.

THE SOUVENIR CARD

"The American Allegory" is the Bureau's theme for activities in 1997. The theme will appear in the Bureau's offerings, including souvenir cards, notes, and stamps.

American patriots fiercely defending their homeland are depicted in an engraving from a $20 National Bank Note that will appear on a new Bureau of Engraving and Printing souvenir card at the Bay State Coin Show in Boston in April.

The card is appropriate to Boston and nearby Lexington where the first battle of the American Revolution occurred. The courageous stand of the Minutemen against the British is captured in a painting by Felix O. C. Darley which was then engraved as part of a $20 National Bank Note, series 1882 (National Currency Die #2681). Engravers included George U. Rose, Jr., Robert Ponickau, and John Kennedy.

The vignette on the right side of the note features a female figure, Columbia, leading a band of determined volunteers. The figure is an allegory for loyalty and liberty, signified by the Phrygian cap she is wearing. The cap was originally worn by the people of Phrygia in the Middle East and became an allegory for liberty during the French Revolution and later in America.

Notes of this type were issued by national banks chartered by the Federal Government from 1863 to 1922. Each bank was assigned a unique charter number, which appeared on all its bills but left blank on the souvenir card. Dates for the engravings are unknown, and die cards for both works are missing.

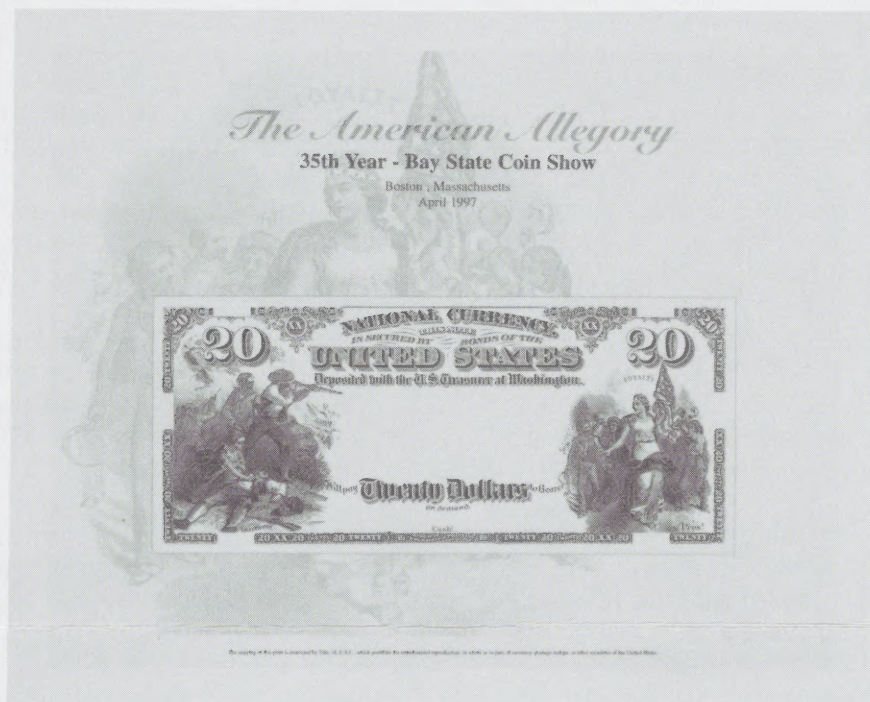

EXHIBITS

The Bureau's activities at the Bay State Coin Show will include its Billion Dollar Exhibit of sheets of currency no longer printed or issued, such as Treasury bonds and gold and silver certificates, valued at more than a billion dollars. A Bureau technical expert on currency will be present to explain the agency's activities to the public.

CURIOUS COMBINATION HIGHLIGHTS
BUREAU OF ENGRAVING AND PRINTING CARD
AT PACIFIC 97 SHOW

The Bureau of Engraving and Printing will have a significant exhibit on display at PACIFIC 97, World Philatelic Exhibition celebrating the 150th Anniversary of the United States' first postage stamps May 29-June 8, 1997 at the Moscone Center, Exhibition Floor, 747 Howard Street, San Francisco, California.

BEP DAY

BEP representatives and technical experts will participate in seminars to share information about the Bureau's stamp program on June 3, BEP Day.

Topics will include: The History of Stamp Production, Pre-press Work, Stamp Production and Processing, and Strategic Postage Stamp issues. Visit the Seminar Room again on June 4 from 1:00p.m. until 3:00p.m. for a dialogue with Larry E. Rolufs, Bureau's Director.

THE PACIFIC 97 SOUVENIR CARD

An unusual combination of elements -- a majestic female figure of justice on a stamp for "renovated butter" -- is the centerpiece for a Bureau of Engraving and Printing souvenir card that will be introduced at the PACIFIC 97 show. The stamp, engraved and issued in 1903, was made for the Internal Revenue Service signifying a tax on "renovated" or "process" butter. The substance was actually rancid butter reprocessed through such means as melting to make it fit for human consumption.

Bureau records do not show why the commanding figure of justice, signified by her possession of a set of scales serving as an allegory for justice, was employed on such a stamp. There is speculation that Lady Justice was picked mainly for her decorative value. Emphasizing her power, the figure rests her right arm on a shield bearing the American motto, "E Pluribus Unum" -- Latin for "One from Many."

The Process or Renovated Butter Stamp (miscellaneous die #5746) was engraved by William Chorlton, Edward M. Hall, Louis S. Schofield, Lyman F. Ellis, Frank Lamasure, Louis A. Hill, and Franklin T. Howe.

The vignette, "Justice and Shield" (miscellaneous die #3267), was engraved by the American Bank Note Company and transferred to the Bureau. The female figure holds a scale in one hand and a sword symbolizing power in the other. The scale is meant to show her impartiality. The "Justice and Shield" vignette has been used for a number of securities, including tax stamps.

EXHIBITS

The Bureau will feature "One Common Endeavor - The 20th Century Collaboration of Craftsmanship and Automation" This exhibit portrays, through postage stamp material and photographs, the artistry and technology the Bureau uses in the production of U. S. Postage stamps. The Bureau exhibit will include a display of many historically significant and rare postage stamps and its popular Billion Dollar Display. Also present will be a plate printer who will demonstrate the art of intaglio printing.

INTAGLIO PRINT ON SILK

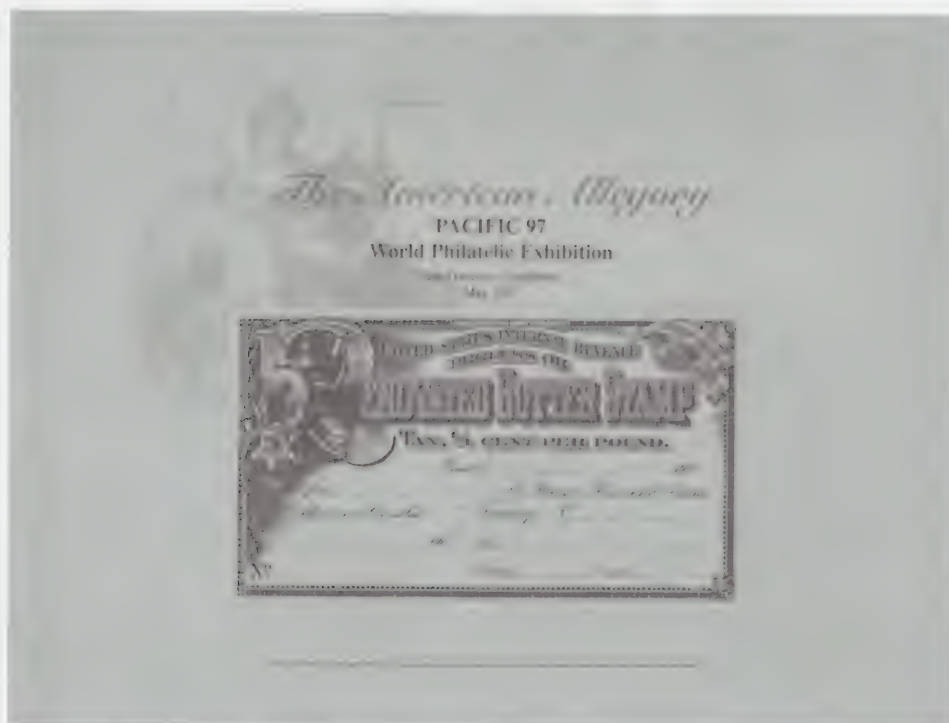

The Bureau of Engraving will feature a "limited edition" an engraving on silk. The silk illustrates a majestic figure holding a small treasure chest overflowing with gems and precious stones in her left hand appearing over the United States Treasury Building. This vignette, entitled Spirit of Treasury, represents America's prosperity. The allegorical vignette, presented by the Bureau of Engraving and Printing for PACIFIC 97, evolved from an 1919 engraving by G.F.C. Smillie and Louis S. Schofield. The five and ten cent stamps are 1977 re-engravers of the original 1847 stamps (miscellaneous dies #18249 and #18250). Three years ago, when the Bureau last offered engraving on silk, to the public, it sold out in one week.

Archival packaging consisting of 4-ply acid and lignin free nonbuffered board and mat with a neutral ph will be used. The silk will be nestled between 2 layers of 3 millimeter Mylar for added protection and conservation.

CARD CELEBRATING AMERICA'S STRENGTH
OFFERED BY BUREAU OF ENGRAVING AND PRINTING
AT INTERNATIONAL PAPER MONEY SHOW

The Bureau of Engraving and Printing will exhibit at the International Paper Money Show June 20-22, 1997, at the Northwest Hall of Cook Convention Center, 255 N. Main Street, Memphis, Tennessee.

THE IPMS SOUVENIR CARD

A determined female figure believed to denote America's liberty and progress in the early years of this century is the centerpiece of a souvenir card by the Bureau of Engraving and Printing. The card will be introduced at the International Paper Money Show in Memphis in June.

The portrait is based on a painting by Walter Shirlaw and was engraved on national currency die #4308 by Robert Ponickau, Marcus W. Baldwin, and G.F.C. Smillie. Lettering was completed by George U. Rose, Jr., Edward M. Hall and Lyman F. Ellis. Symbols of union and strength are depicted in allegories such as the fasces -- a bundle of stakes with an axe -- and a laurel crown denoting authority. National Bank Notes were issued by banks from 1863 to 1922 with backing of the U.S. Treasury. All National Bank Notes had the same basic design, thus making it recognizable by holders anywhere in the country.

The vignette, from the back of a $10 National Bank Note, completed in 1902, features an imposing robed woman between ships of the U.S. Navy and Merchant Marine. The illustration is an allegory emphasizing America's pride in its growing strength more than a century after independence.

INTAGLIO PRINT

The Bureau will also feature an intaglio print depicting the three allegorical figures on the note representing Agriculture, Commerce, and Industry. The female figures (Misc. Die #888) of Agriculture, Commerce, and Industry were engraved by Marcus W. Baldwin (picture). This die was completed in October of 1916.

EXHIBITS

Bureau activities at the International Paper Money Show will include the display of the Billion Dollar Exhibit of sheets of currency no longer printed or issued, such as Treasury bonds, and gold and silver certificates, worth more than a billion dollars. A Bureau technical expert on currency will be present to explain the agency's activities.

The 1997-1998 Duck Stamp Set
"The Canadian Goose"

The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, Federal Duck Stamp Office's April 18, 1997, Bulletin announced the issuance of its 11th version of the Federal Duck Stamp Souvenir Card. The 1997-1998 stamp design, a single majestic Canadian Goose standing next to a pristine lake, was created from an acrylic painting by Robert Hautman of Plymouth, Minnesota. He is the winning artist of the 1996 Federal Duck Stamp Contest.

This year's souvenir card, designed and printed by the Bureau, has a dusky multi-hued background reminiscent of a Minnesota sunset. The serene background frames a striking picture of the newest duck stamp.

Sales from the Federal Duck Stamp Program are used to purchase and protect vital wetlands for waterfowl and several other wildlife species. Since 1934, millions of Duck Stamp dollars have contributed to preserving about four million acres of wetland habitat in the National Wildlife Refuge System.

The Federal Duck Stamp Souvenir Card is presented in two formats, mint and post office canceled. The mint souvenir card contains the 1997-1998 stamp in a separate glassine. The post office canceled card has the 1997-1998 stamp adhered to it. That card also contains two "Endangered Species" 32-cent postage stamps with two different cancellations: The June 21, 1997, McLean, Virginia, First Day of Issue Signing Ceremony and the July 19, 1997, Minneapolis, Minnesota, Artist's Hometown Event. Both cancellations were designed exclusively by Mr. Hautman for use on the souvenir card.

The Bureau of Engraving and Printing has printed the duck stamp since 1934. Bureau Engraver Thomas Hipschen completed the extensive engraving detailing the wind ruffled feathers on the goose's back.

In the past, the Bureau has offered only the mint duck stamp card sets. This year the Bureau will offer the mint duck stamp card sets as well as a limited edition of 1,000 canceled duck stamp souvenir cards. There is no limit on the mint duck stamp card sets, however, we are limiting the sale of the canceled cards to three per customer.

CARD CELEBRATING REVITALIZED NATION
OFFERED BY BUREAU OF ENGRAVING AND PRINTING
AT AMERICAN NUMISMATIC ASSOCIATION SHOW

The Bureau of Engraving and Printing will exhibit at the American Numismatic Association's (ANA) 106th Anniversary Convention, July 30-August 3, 1997, at the Marriott Marquis Hotel, 1535 Broadway, New York, NY.

SOUVENIR CARD

"The American Allegory", a story with a second meaning -- is the Bureau's theme for activities in 1997. The theme will appear in the Bureau's offerings, including souvenir cards, notes, and stamps.

A portrait of President Lincoln and the female figure of Liberty are combined in a forceful endorsement of a revitalized America after the Civil War. The figure of Liberty protecting a small child, a vignette and allegory for Reconstruction, was engraved by Louis Delnoce in 1869 (miscellaneous die #741).

Actually, the note as it appears on the card -- an engraving of the $100 U.S. Note (miscellaneous die #1039) -- was never issued. An altered version was issued in 1875. The note also was intended as recognition of President Lincoln's decisive role in preserving the Union and his proclamation freeing the slaves. The President was assassinated by the actor John Wilkes Booth shortly after the war ended.

The small oval at the bottom center of the note is taken from a vignette called "Liberty and Union" (miscellaneous die #3254).

EXHIBITS

The show will feature the Bureau's Billion Dollar Exhibit of sheets of currency no longer printed or issued, such as Treasury bonds and gold and silver certificates, valued at more than a billion dollars.

OFFERS CARD CELEBRATING AMERICAN JUSTICE
AT MILCOPEX '97 SHOW

The Bureau of Engraving and Printing will exhibit at the Milwaukee Philatelic Society (MILCOPEX) Show in Milwaukee, Wisconsin September 19-21, 1997 at the Wisconsin State Fair Park, Trade Mart Building #741, 81st Street and Greenfield Avenue, Milwaukee/West Allis, Wisconsin.

THE SOUVENIR CARD

"The American Allegory -- a story with a second meaning -- is the Bureau's theme for 1997. The theme appears in the Bureau's offerings, including souvenir cards, notes, and stamps. In honor of the Milcopex exhibition, the Bureau is offering a newly created souvenir card. The card features three powerful female figures celebrating justice and stability in America. The three monumental figures which appeared on newspaper and periodical stamps series 1894 are allegories for justice, faithfulness, and freedom.

The background on the card, based on the Statue of Freedom atop the United States Capitol, was engraved (miscellaneous die #16602) by Louis S. Schofield and William O. Marks. The design was completed in 1916.

The die for the 25-cent newspaper and periodical stamp, series 1894 (Post Office die #72) was designed by Thomas F. Morris, James Kennedy, and Robert Ponickau. The female figure holding, in her right hand, a scale represents Justice, while in her other hand she carries a shield bearing the U.S. coat of arms -- symbolizing America.

The one-cent stamp (Post Office die #46) depicts a figure holding a sword representing justice. Designer for the note was Thomas F. Morris, and the engraving was made by James Kennedy and G. F. C. Smillie.

The die (Post Office die #73) for the $10 stamp was designed by Thomas F. Morris. Seymour B. Many, James Kennedy, George U. Rose, Jr., and G. F. C. Smillie were Bureau designers. The vignette represents Vesta, the goddess of the fireside, and symbolizes perpetual faith.

EXHIBITS

An exhibit of imperforate sheets of historic stamps will be featured at the show.

The U.S. Bureau of Engraving and Printing Offers a Noteworthy Website

Whether you are preparing for an appearance on "Jeopardy" or looking to research the history of money for a term paper or a book, you would be well-advised to visit the Bureau of Engraving and Printing via its site on the World Wide Web. Go to <http://www.bep.treas.gov> and discover a world of information on the making of money, stamps, and more.

The well-designed home page offers a wealth of places to go to find out about money. You can visit Bureau facilities in Washington, D.C. and Fort Worth, Texas, get information on tours, and shop until you drop at the sales section.

But the best part about the BEP's site is having access to all sorts of inside information on currency. There's plenty of interesting trivia. For example, want to know how much a note weighs? Want to know what was the largest note ever printed? Want to know who the only woman whose portrait has appeared on U.S. currency is? You can turn to the site for answers...or you can look for the asterisk at the end of this article. But if you take the easy way out, note that you will be missing out on a great deal of other stuff, such as up-to-date news on new money.

The Bureau's site is the place to go for information on America's newly-designed currency. As bills from the $100 note on down get re-designed, the site provides the lowdown. At present, the new $50 note is profiled. There's also an in-depth look at the artist who designed the new $100 bill.

The site is not just for trivia lovers, tourists, and shoppers, however. Business people interested in getting government business will find the site's procurement information quite useful. The procurement site gives businesses of all shapes and sizes access to federal procurement opportunities by posting competitive solicitations, small business forecasts of procurement opportunities, and federal procurement information. And this information isn't just for BEP contracts. The site contains hyperlinks to all federal agencies and to other federal contracting sites.

Journalists will find the site useful for story ideas and for updates on the latest bureau news. Collectors of both currency and stamps can chat with other collectors via The Collectors' Forum. And researchers of all shapes and sizes can bank on the site to provide everything they need to know about money. And if the BEP site doesn't have the information, it links to other money-related sites that do.

So, the next time you're on the Web, check it out. Head to <http://www.bep.treas.gov>. The buck definitely starts here.

*Approximate weight of a currency note is .032 troy ounces. The largest note ever printed by the Bureau of Engraving and Printing was the $100,000 Gold Certificate, Series 1934. Martha Washington is the only woman whose portrait has appeared on a U.S. currency note.

Bureau of Engraving and Printing's
1998 Souvenir Card Subscription Services
"From Sea To Shining Sea"

The Bureau of Engraving and Printing (BEP) participates in various numismatic and philatelic shows throughout the year. BEP creates souvenir cards to commemorate the majority of the shows it attends. These souvenir cards provide the general public with the opportunity to collect engravings of historic currency and stamps.

BEP is pleased to announce the 1998 souvenir card subscription services for mint and post office canceled souvenir cards. A post office canceled souvenir card is a mint souvenir card which has been stamped and hand canceled by the United States Postal Service (USPS). USPS uses the BEP Visitors Center cancellation containing the date of the card's "First Day of Sale." This year's "From Sea To Shining Sea" series includes five cards representing notes of the National Currency issues from a variety of chartered banks and the 12 Federal Reserve Banks.

We guarantee that subscribers will receive every souvenir card included in the mint and/or post office canceled subscription. BEP will mail out each souvenir card after its first day of sale. A souvenir card schedule is listed on the next page.

The Mail Order Sales Office will accept orders for subscription services through December 31, 1997, or while supplies last. Anyone who wishes to participate in one or both of the 1998 subscription services should complete the enclosed order form and return it with your payment. BEP will release announcements on individual cards throughout the year.

FIRST CHARTER PERIOD OF $10 NATIONAL CURRENCY BACK
SOUVENIR CARD OFFERED BY BUREAU OF ENGRAVING AND PRINTING AT FLORIDA UNITED NUMISMATISTS SHOW

The Bureau of Engraving and Printing will exhibit at the Florida United Numismatists (FUN) 43rd Show, January 8-11, 1998, at the Orange County Convention/Civic Center, 9800 International Drive in Orlando, Florida.

The 1998 souvenir card theme "From Sea to Shining Sea" represents notes of the National Currency issues from a variety of chartered banks and Federal Reserve Banks. The first card will be introduced at the Florida United Numismatists Show in Orlando in January.

THE FUN SOUVENIR CARD

The card features the $10 National Currency back. The First Charter periods were between December 1863 and approximately February 1883. It appears that the only bank that issued $10 notes during the First Charter period was in Jacksonville, Florida, on August 24, 1874. According to Hickman and Oakes, there were only 4,500 $10 notes issued by the First National Bank of Florida in Jacksonville. The few left are in the hands of collectors.

The $10 National Currency back, First Charter period, features an engraving based on "Discovery of the Mississippi by De Soto A.D 1541", the 1853 painting by William H. Powell. The American Bank Note Company of New York City engraved and printed the notes. The vignette of the $10 back was printed in black, the frame in green.

The engravers of the frame, National Currency Die #43; U.S. Coat of Arms, Bank Note Die #1; and Florida Coat of Arms, Bank Note Die #11 are unknown, however, the vignette of De Soto, Black Back Die #32 was engraved by Frederick Girsch.

EXHIBITS

Recently released sheets of the $5 Federal Reserve notes will be available at the show. The Bureau will feature a billion dollars of unique currency, treasury bonds and gold and silver certificates. A technical expert on currency production will be available.

PURCHASING INSTRUCTIONS

A mail order form for the FUN Souvenir cards is included. The cards, #98010 mint and #98011 post office canceled, are included in the standard subscription orders. You may order either mint or canceled cards two weeks before the first day of sale. Both mint and canceled cards may be purchased at the Bureau of Engraving and Printing's Visitors Center in Washington, D.C., starting January 8. Mint cards are available at the exhibit site. Over-the counter prices are $5.00 for mint cards and $5.30 for post office canceled cards.
